Calcium silicate board – safe and versatile

Calcium silicate is an extremely durable material that resists temperatures up to 1000°C and is easily worked with standard tools. Contura COSI comes as ready-to-build kits. This cuts down on installation time and gives you greater flexibility when choosing where to position your fireplace. The material has a high insulation performance which means your fireplace can be installed directly against a combustible wall and close to combustible materials. Everything you need for installation is included.
